KINGS PRAIRIE

Easter Sunday, that is held in reverence by the believing Christians of the world, is now in the past.

Didn't it rain? If it continues to be warm the buds and grass will begin to come forth. If there is no wind up of a cold snap there will be a good crop of the various fruits.

E. R. Stribling has been on the sick list and was unable to attend the meeting at Liberty church north of Monett last Sunday. He is reported improving.

The high cold winds that were blowing last week sent a good many in with the grip.

The mail carrier on R. F. D. 4 out of Monett deserves to be promoted for his humanitarian care of his horses. Some time ago while the road was very muddy, he drove to Carter's store, left his team to rest while he shouldered his mail pouch and went on foot around a circle of six miles, coming back south he got into his rig. He was tired but the team was rested. You can go up head Mr. Thomas.

News is scarce. The country was flooded, the creek was up, Nix couldn't swim and the news was all on the other side.

When Dad and I returned from out west we found our folks had been overtaken by several storms. They had lost track of the DAILY TIMES which gives you a day's notice to hike for shelter.

We don't know why we get more eggs on Easter than any other day, but when we faced a round dozen of all shades and colors Easter morning we didn't stop to argue the question.

It is being reported that a well known minister of Barry county is about to become a millionaire. A large estate in the old country is coming across to be divided up. We may be able to speak more definitely in the near future.

THE APRIL WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION

The Woman's Home Companion in its April number carries on vigorously and picturesquely its great fight for "Better Babies" by reporting the story of a contest just held in Colorado at which prizes were awarded to the finest babies in the state from the standpoint of health. The baby photographs that accompany this article are about as attractive as one could imagine.

The April Companion, of course, contains many other interesting and highly useful articles. As for example, "A Healthy Mind in a Healthy Body," by Ralph Waldo Trine; an article by John Phillips Street, Pure Food Commissioner of Connecticut, who shows housewives the importance of reading labels on the goods they buy; "Chickens in the Back Yard," in which Frank Waugh, an expert, takes up the subject of raising poultry on a small scale; "The Social Problems of a Girl," in which Christine Terhune Herrick presents some intensely practical and entertaining advice; and a baseball article which will furnish mothers a number of definite ideas about baseball which ought to be told to small boys at the beginning of spring practice.
